

NWTCA Northern Construction Trade Fair: November 29th to December 1st, 2011

In conjunction with the Project Management Conference, the NWT & Nunavut Construction Association will be hosting a Northern Construction Trade Fair. This is an ideal opportunity for delegates to create future business contacts and relationships with contractors and suppliers who work North of 60°.

Throughout the three-day exhibition, industry participants will be available to discuss their unique construction and maintenance products and services. Be sure to visit all of the booths and meet the people with whom you will do business in future!

Since 1999, this biennial Super Conference North of 60° has grown to attract over 300 delegates to Yellowknife. For three days, professionals such as contract administrators, architects, engineers, contractors, construction managers, project managers, community representatives (technical staff), contract authorities, legal advisors and northern manufacturers gather to discuss the newest trends and innovative approaches used in effective project management.

Organized by the Government of the Northwest Territories' Public Works and Services Department, the conference theme this year is "Helping Northerners Prepare for Tomorrow". It will explore best project management practices and latest trends and innovative approaches through these topics:
